[1] MSCI World Index in Sterling, net dividends reinvested, priced at close of business US time, source: MSCI Inc. The MSCI World Index is a generic portfolio of global equities across all sectors and, as such, is a fair comparison given the Fund is also global and sector agnostic.

[4] This figure will reduce if the fund increases in size: £50,000 of fixed costs over £10m = 0.50% but only 0.05% over £100m. We are targeting total cost of ownership of the fund as close as possible to 1%.

[5] The fund normally only buys and sells positions once a month to keep trading costs as low as possible. This figure was calculated in collaboration with Cantor Fitzgerald and significantly lower than many UK platforms assume.

Monthly Commentary (December 2019)

Our signals at the beginning of December gave us no fewer than nine sell orders – the most significant move for a long time.

As you can see below, on the equity side, we sold our positions in Pacific ex Japan and UK stock markets and world, Asian and Latin American emerging markets. In other asset classes we exited our positions in energy commodities and industrial metals, Asian real estate and global infrastructure.

This resulted in the fund being positioned in only 11 of our 24 “risk” silos – our most defensive position for the whole of 2019. It will be interesting to see how 2020 develops.

The fund ended the year +4.4%. I will be writing a “2019 Performance Review” in the near future. Please do look out for it.

Key Risks

- Counterparty risk: The Fund can conclude various transactions with contractual partners. If a contractual partner becomes insolvent, it can no longer or can only partly settle unpaid debts owed to the Fund.
- Market Risk: External factors can cause an entire asset class to decline in value which would result in a decrease in the value of investments. The Fund aims to mitigate this risk by investing in all major asset classes in many geographic regions and owning assets which are often negatively correlated.
- Concentration Risk: The Fund seeks to minimise concentration risk by owning a wide selection of Exchange Traded

Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.

- Liquidity Risk: adverse market conditions may affect the ability to sell certain assets when necessary. The Fund invests nearly exclusively in large, liquid ETFs so liquidity risk should be significantly lower than in a more conventional actively managed fund investing in single assets.
