- (2) MSCI World Index in Sterling, net dividends reinvested, priced at close of business US time, source: MSCI Inc. The MSCI World Index is a generic portfolio of global equities across all sectors and, as such, is a fair comparison given the Fund is also global and sector agnostic.

- (4) UK Pound Sterling Overnight Index SONIA, source: Refinitiv.
- (5) A (retail) class AMC 0.9% / I (institutional) class AMC 0.7%. (I-class for sums over £1m or at manager's discretion).
- (6) This figure will reduce if the fund increases in size: £30,000 of fixed costs over £10m = 0.30% but only 0.03% over £100m, for example.
- (7) The fund normally only buys and sells positions once a month to keep trading costs as low as possible.

The investment objective of the Fund is to provide capital growth over the medium to long term. The Fund will aim to meet its objectives by employing two primary investment techniques:

1. True diversification which may include exposure to equities, fixed income, commodities, real estate and infrastructure in different jurisdictions throughout the world, primarily using Exchange Traded Funds.
2. Formula-based trend following.

Monthly Commentary (January 2024)

As we enter February 2024 the Global Multi Asset Fund is just over 90% invested in active positions with the remainder in cash and other risk-free assets. The fund retreated by 1.1% during January compared with a loss of 2.3% for British Government Securities, the traditional 'defensive' portfolio diversifier. The trend following methodology prompted purchases of positions in developed and emerging market equities and high yielding fixed income. There were no sales.

The statistics for the US economy look favourable. Year on year GDP growth is 3% and CPI inflation has subsided to 3.4%. Less encouraging is a budget deficit of 6.3% and a current account deficit of 2.8%, although these are both supported by the continuing role of the US dollar as the world's predominant reserve currency. The data from China is less good. GDP growth allegedly stands at 5.2%, which is low by Chinese standards, and prices have now dropped by 0.3% in the past year, possibly the beginning of a deflationary spiral as happened in Japan at a similar point in its development. It is notable that a Hong Kong Court has placed Evergrande, China's largest property developer, into administration with liabilities of US$300 billion. Meanwhile the UK and Euro area are showing GDP growth barely into positive territory but with inflation apparently moderating.

Arguably the continued strength of US financial markets is fairly remarkable given the global geo-political situation, which some commentators describe as the most precarious since the end of the Second World War. The war in Ukraine continues with uncertainty about US funding and arms supplies; Israel's response in Gaza to the Hamas incursion in October 2023 continues unabated; belligerence by Iranian proxies is now prompting US counter attacks and China continues to threaten Taiwan. Meanwhile in 2024 elections will be held in 64 countries around the world representing 49% of the global population and including in the US of course where the S&P 500 has not declined during a presidential re-election year since 1952 interestingly.

With the fund 90% invested we hope that financial markets continue to shrug off geo-political concerns.

a wide selection of Exchange Traded Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.
  - Market Risk: External factors can cause an entire asset class to decline in value which would result in a decrease in the value of investments. The Fund aims to mitigate this risk by investing in all major asset classes in many geographic regions and owning assets which are often negatively correlated.
  - Concentration Risk: The Fund seeks to minimise concentration risk by owning a wide selection of Exchange Traded Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.
