Notes

- (1) A class accumulation shares, net of fees priced at midday UK time, net dividends reinvested. Source: Valu-Trac Investment Management Ltd.
- (2) MSCI World Index in Sterling, net dividends reinvested, priced at close of business US time, source: MSCI Inc. The MSCI World Index is a generic portfolio of global equities across all sectors and, as such, is a fair comparison given the Fund is also global and sector agnostic.
- (3) iBoxx GBP Gilts Index, source: Refinitiv.
- (4) UK Pound Sterling Overnight Index SONIA, source: Refinitiv.
- (5) A (retail) class AMC 0.9% / I (institutional) class AMC 0.7%. (I-class for sums over £1m or at manager's discretion).
- (6) This figure will reduce if the fund increases in size: £30,000 of fixed costs over £10m = 0.30% but only 0.03% over £100m, for example.
- (7) The fund normally only buys and sells positions once a month to keep trading costs as low as possible.

The investment objective of the Fund is to provide capital growth over the medium to long term. The Fund will aim to meet its objectives by employing two primary investment techniques:

1. True diversification which may include exposure to equities, fixed income, commodities, real estate and infrastructure in different jurisdictions throughout the world, primarily using Exchange Traded Funds.
2. Formula-based trend following.

Monthly Commentary (May 2021)

At the beginning of May our signals gave us two new buys - in High Yield fixed income and European Real Estate. This left us long of 19 out of 24 of our "risk" silos. Other than the High Yield bond holding, the fund is currently out of fixed income altogether and continues to leave gold to its own devices, but we are fully invested in equities, real estate and commodities aside from gold.

Economic data throughout the course of the month was encouraging, driven by two themes I have referenced before on this page: A big economic bounce as economies begin to emerge from the Coronavirus crisis and very significant fiscal stimulus, particularly in Anglo-America. Set against that, however, markets were more restrained through May as a result of two countervailing negatives: Rising concern about inflation and, I would argue, concerns about the ongoing health crisis in India perhaps leading market participants to worry that we may not be out of the woods yet when it comes to CV-19 (this concern will have been reinforced by Boris Johnson's extension of UK lockdowns for another few weeks, announced as I write this in mid June). The net result of all of that was that the fund gained 0.5% through the month.

Real economic performance and corporate earnings in the second half of the year are highly likely to continue to be positive, but markets will no doubt continue to be somewhat fearful of interest rate rises should inflation look like it is here to stay. This scenario should be broadly bullish for equities and bearish for fixed income - on which basis our fund seems to be positioned as it should be. To be clear, I would remind readers that this positioning is purely as a result of our signals and nothing to do with us "cleverly" deciding to have the fund allocated that way, but we hope that this could be beneficial in the months ahead nevertheless.

Key Risks

- Counterparty risk: The Fund can conclude various transactions with contractual partners. If a contractual partner becomes insolvent, it can no longer or can only partly settle unpaid debts owed to the Fund.
a wide selection of Exchange Traded Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.
 - Market Risk: External factors can cause an entire asset class to decline in value which would result in a decrease in the value of investments. The Fund aims to mitigate this risk by investing in all major asset classes in many geographic regions and owning assets which are often negatively correlated.
 - Concentration Risk: The Fund seeks to minimise concentration risk by owning a wide selection of Exchange Traded Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.
 - Liquidity Risk: adverse market conditions may affect the ability to sell certain assets when necessary. The Fund invests nearly exclusively in large, liquid ETFs so liquidity risk should be significantly lower than in a more conventional actively managed fund investing in single assets.
