[1] MSCI World Index in Sterling, net dividends reinvested, priced at close of business US time, source: MSCI Inc. The MSCI World Index is a generic portfolio of global equities across all sectors and, as such, is a fair comparison given the Fund is also global and sector agnostic.

[4] This figure will reduce if the fund increases in size: £50,000 of fixed costs over £10m = 0.50% but only 0.05% over £100m. We are targeting total cost of ownership of the fund as close as possible to 1%.

[5] The fund normally only buys and sells positions once a month to keep trading costs as low as possible. This figure was calculated in collaboration with Cantor Fitzgerald and significantly lower than many UK platforms assume.

Monthly Commentary (November 2020)

At the beginning of the month our signals gave us six new buy orders and two sells. We initiated positions in UK and Latin American shares, US, UK and Asian real estate and global infrastructure and closed out our positions in dollar and sterling corporate bonds.

This left the fund long of 20 of 24 of our risk assets - our most "risk on" stance for more than a year. Happily this served us well through November and the fund added 3.1% of performance by the end of the month.

Financial markets responded well to more clarity on the outcome of the Presidential election and to no fewer than three CV-19 vaccine announcements during the month from Pfizer / BioNTech, Moderna and AstraZeneca / Oxford. At the time of writing, it appears vanishingly unlikely that the Trump campaign will be able to overturn a Biden win.

This having been said, it does seem as if the Senate may remain in Republican hands leaving a divided Congress. The removal of Trump but with a Republican check on Democrat largesse and the risk of corporate tax rises might be argued to be not far off the ideal US election outcome as far as markets are concerned.

A likely end to the CV-19 crisis as 2021 progresses gives markets another reason for good cheer. More than one sensible commentator has wondered about whether the stage might be set for a repeat of "the roaring twenties" a century after the last one. I would argue that these possible outcomes give us something we might celebrate this Christmas at the end of such an unusual and challenging year.

Key Risks

- Counterparty risk: The Fund can conclude various transactions with contractual partners. If a contractual partner becomes insolvent, it can no longer or can only partly settle unpaid debts owed to the Fund.
a wide selection of Exchange Traded Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.
- Market Risk: External factors can cause an entire asset class to decline in value which would result in a decrease in the value of investments. The Fund aims to mitigate this risk by investing in all major asset classes in many geographic regions and owning assets which are often negatively correlated.
- Concentration Risk: The Fund seeks to minimise concentration risk by owning a wide selection of Exchange Traded Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.
- Liquidity Risk: adverse market conditions may affect the ability to sell certain assets when necessary. The Fund invests nearly exclusively in large, liquid ETFs so liquidity risk should be significantly lower than in a more conventional actively managed fund investing in single assets.
